OFFICIAL

Good morning,

Thank you for your reply.

I have identified that the incident on 9th September was reported to the Metropolitan Police Service (MPS) and you were provided with the following reference numbers:

SP-146449-25-0101-IR

01/7956733/25

These are not BTP reference numbers and any questions you have about the theft on the 9th should be directed to the MPS not BTP as we have no involvement in this.

I have passed this part back to the MPS for their attention.

The incident on 29th September has been recorded by us under reference number 2500117834.

From looking at this I have noted that the investigating officer has attempted to obtain further information from you which you have declined to provide instead continually referring to the theft on the 9th.

I have asked the investigating officer to make contact with you and provide you with an update. Please be aware though that if further information is required and you decline to provide it then no further action can be taken in respect of any investigation.

As you are not wanting to make a complaint, I have recorded your contact under the reference number at the top of this email and will close the matter.

For the first 2 points I will consider, although from what I have seen, it's useless.

Since I am not making a complaint at the moment I will not provide the information to you, as the police forces seem to have the inclination to insist on handling things that haven't been requested instead of the requested ones.

But I am inclined to believe I have already reported both cases to the BTP and provided information where I am asked.

One thing you can help is to ask your colleagues who should be handling the case to handle the case and make responses instead of having you make reponses.

Good afternoon,

I have been passed an email that you sent to the Metropolitan Police Service (MPS). It has been sent to us as we are the national Police service for all railway locations and you stated these incidents occurred at Kings Cross station.

On the details that have been provided I have been unable to locate any incidents that have been reported to us relating to theft of your property either on 9th or 29th September at Kings Cross station.

Can you confirm the following to me please:

1. Are you wishing to make a complaint about Police?
2. If so please provide details of what you wish to complain about.
3. Are you reporting a crime that has occurred?
4. If you are please follow this link: <https://www.btp.police.uk/ro/report/ocr/af/how-to-report-a-crime/>
5. Please provide your full name and date of birth as this will assist me in locating any previous reports you have made to us.

If you could provide your reply within the next 7 working days it would be appreciated as this would enable me to progress any complaint should you wish to make one.

Kind regards,

Mark Lambert PC4139
